

Yan Zhao 31018809
Jon Masukawa 33128396

All tests were run with 250 processes.

It is better to use larger quantum with longer running jobs because each job has a longer burst time. If the time quantum is too small with longer running jobs, more time is spent switching between jobs, rather than executing the current job, which makes it inefficient.